WHO WE ARE

South Atlantic Landscape Conservation Cooperative

The South Atlantic Landscape Conservation Cooperative (LCC) is a partnership of federal, state, nonprofit, and private organizations dedicated to conserving a landscape capable of sustaining the nation's natural and cultural resources for current and future generations.

How We're Funded

The South Atlantic LCC receives a majority of its funding from the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service. The National Park Service provides additional staff capacity, and the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission donates office space.

IN OUR PARTNERS' WORDS

I see the South Atlantic LCC filling a critical coordination role to leverage existing work and develop science based projects and communication efforts that support landscape level conservation."

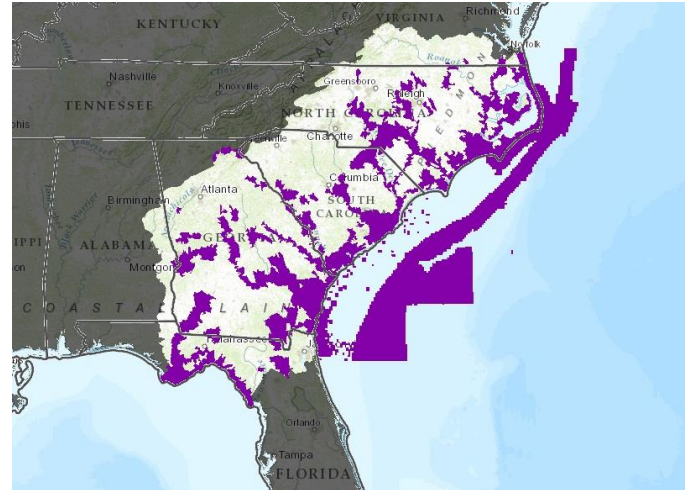

—BETH STYS, STEERING COMMITTEE CHAIR, FLORIDA FISH AND WILDLIFE CONSERVATION COMMISSION

SCIENCE-DRIVEN RESULTS

Conservation Blueprint 1.0

Earlier this year, the South Atlantic LCC released Version 1.0 of the Conservation Blueprint, a living plan describing the places and actions needed to meet shared conservation objectives in the face of future change.

- » More than 300 people from 83 organizations actively participated in developing Blueprint 1.0
- » The release of more data-driven Blueprint 2.0 is scheduled for June 2015

Partners have used the Blueprint to guide conservation action, such as the project leader for the Francis Marion National Forest Plan revision and a senior U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service biologist reviewing a National Coastal Wetlands Grant Program application. LCC staff continue to engage other potential Blueprint users, supporting delivery of National Bobwhite Conservation Initiative quail focus areas in South Carolina and helping the South Atlantic Fishery Management Council implement ecosystem-based management.
